

Miss Moseley Is Wed to K. B. Wiss Jr.

Elizabeth Wood Moseley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Boswell Moseley of Litchfield, Conn., and Kenneth Bertrand Wiss Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiss of Pinehurst, N.C., were married yesterday. The Rev. David F. Gurniak performed the ceremony at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Litchfield.

Nancy Hall Haight was maid of honor. Timothy Summer Wiss served as his brother's best man.

Mrs. Wiss, a licensed independent certified social worker at Boston City Hospital, graduated from the Forman School, Pine Manor College and the University of Wisconsin in Madison. She received a master's degree in social work from Boston College. Her father, formerly a vice president of U.S. Plywood-Champion Paper Company in New York, retired as president of General Fireproofing in Youngstown, Ohio.

Mr. Wiss, the senior buyer for the Ark-Les Corporation, a Watertown, Mass., manufacturer of switches and terminals for the automotive industry, graduated from the Trinity-Pawling School and New England College. His father is retired vice president of J. Wiss & Sons, scissors and shears manufacturer in Newark and Maplewood, N.J., now part of Cooper Industries. His grandfather, the late Norman Wiss of Short Hills, N.J., was president of the company, founded by the bridegroom's great-great-grandfather, the late Jacob Wiss of Newark.
